Shape a New Plan for Children, Youth & Family Ministry!

At Synod 2025, the Diocese of Algoma made an important commitment: to renew our plan for ministry with children, youth, and families—and to bring that renewed vision back to Synod in 2027.

Now, that work begins with listening. Across our Diocese, parishes are experiencing change. Some are rebuilding ministry following the pandemic. Others are exploring new ways of connecting with children and youth—through intergenerational worship, family-based faith formation, and community partnerships.

We know that the future of the Church will not be shaped by one model alone. It will be shaped by the lived experience, faith, and wisdom of people across our communities. That includes you.

We invite you to take part in a short diocesan survey to help us better understand the realities your parish is facing; the strengths already present; the challenges you are navigating; and the kinds of ministry that feel possible and life-giving.

This consultation will help ensure that the next diocesan plan is grounded in real experience and shaped by voices from across Algoma.
